

ALLAN KEOGH

PRINCIPAL CONSULTANT

Qualifications: Bachelor Degree in Management and Communications with post-graduate studies in Organisational Development and Communications. Studied at the School of Entrepreneurs specialising in Business Development and was a Graduate of Officer Cadet School.

Specialties: Partnering with my clients to see them realise their potential is at the heart of what I do. This is embodied in every facet of my work at Keogh Consulting. This includes Mega Project Organisational Development, Organisation Development and Transformation, Senior Management Development, Management Consulting, Strategic Planning, Business Strategy, Operations Management, Executive Coaching, Leadership Development, Executive Team Development and Personal Development.

Career Highlight: In the past 35 years I've worked across continents for a number of sizable organisations, and yet I still find the greatest highlight of my work is coming to the office each morning.

Today, everyday, I proudly work with some wonderful, talented colleagues, in order to help our clients achieve beyond their expectations, all within a nurturing work environment and a dynamic, united culture.

Why Keogh Consulting? We help individuals, teams, organisations and communities make their dreams a reality. Our collaborative approach liberates latent talent and focuses the human spirit. We become your performance partners. We are success focused and while our primary aim is to enable our clients to realise their vision.

What is your favourite thing about Keogh Consulting? Being a catalyst in transformation of individuals and companies. Seeing the spark of wonderment and awe when a leader unwraps their package of brilliance, when they realise they do have the will, the hope, the capability to be all they can be!

What makes you unique, Allan? We are all unique and special. At Keogh Consulting, we help individuals discover their abundance, DNA. Our approach is unique, it's been evolved over 30 years of trial, success and failure. We help you find your path to your reality and your desired future...the 'Keogh Way'. Our approach is based on universal principles and hard science. It is evidence based and produces results.

When I'm not at Keogh I enjoy bushwalking, kayaking, surfing and theatre. My favourite pursuits are painting, gardening, writing, reading and adventure travel. In my spare time I enjoy spending time with my family, especially my grandchildren.

Dead or alive, who would you like to meet and what is the one question you would ask them?

The individuals I would most like to meet would be Nelson Mandela, Dali Lama, John F Kennedy, My father Roy James Keogh and James Cook. The question I would most like to ask is: What would be your insights for a life well lived?

What inspires you and why? Courage by anyone, humility, genius, a smile that starts on the inside and shows itself as light and joy. My dad inspired me to be the best I can be, my mum encouraged me to be of service, and my wife Elizabeth inspires forgiveness and openness in me. I've learnt from R Buckminster Fuller who introduced me to the generalised principles and to abundance.